GOLF on the Fly

With any luck you'll notice Coosaw Creek Country Club on your approach to Charleston International Airport, in the South Carolina Lowcountry. Then you can plot how to play this pleasantly challenging Arthur Hills design, just 8–10 minutes away by car. The course skillfully employs doglegs and greenside mounding; of particular note is the narrower-than-narrow par-3 sixth hole, where a ball needs laser-guided circuitry to find the green. Greens fees are $43 weekdays, $48 weekends, including cart; rent a set of Nike clubs for $25.—Duncan Christy COOSAW CREEK COUNTRY CLUB, 4110 CLUB COURSE DRIVE, NORTH CHARLESTON, SOUTH CAROLINA; 843-767-9000; www.coosawcreek.com

Flights of Food: Expect guest appearances of celebrity chefs and their food at Dine Boston Bar & Grill—maybe even these seared scallops with spicy pickled eggplant from Coriander chef Kevin Crawley. No reservations needed, just bring your appetite to Terminal E (as in "Eats").

GADGET on the GO

"You say you want a revolution?" The Beatles belted. Start your own on your iPod or laptop with a Boosteroo Revolution ($79.95, www.boostaroo.com), a mini-amp that can up your signal 400 percent while adding surround sound and the power to drive a second set of earphones. Speaking of which, consider a pair of German-made Ultrasone iCans ($129, www.ultrasone.com), which are designed to reduce sound pressure levels to help protect your eardrums. Rock on!—David Bailey

> "In 2004, Prague's National Theater commissioned an opera inspired by the Czech VICTORY. The production featured singers dressed in padded muscle shirts . . . even a ballerina representing the puck."

Just in case you want to know how the Czech goalie Dominik Hašek recorded 20 saves in his team's victory over the Russians in Nagano, Japan, we recommend the Turin 2006 edition of The Complete Book of the Winter Olympics by David Wallechinsky and Jaime Loucky (Sport Classic Books, $17.95).—D.B.
